Spatial Factor In African History:

The Spatial Factor In African History Allen M. Howard, Richard Matthew Shain, 2005 In this collection authors apply spatial analysis to case studies of social economic and political dynamics in West Central and East Africa during the nineteenth and twentieth century Also included is a lengthy essay re interpreting tropical Africa 1800 1930 using spatial theory African Thresholds: Borders and Places of Passage in Africa, c.1450 to Present, 2025-06-19 The Open Access publication of this book has been made possible by the Swiss National Science Foundation What is a border and why does it exist Reappraising a key idea from Arnold van Gennep's Les rites de passage this book argues that a border is a threshold a limen made to be crossed African Thresholds studies places of passage spanning from the riverine networks of Senegambia to border making in colonial Gold Coast and Côte d'Ivoire from the desert roads of central southern Africa to river heartlands in colonial Togo from flows of cowrie shells across the Volta River to insurgent borderities in the Lake Chad In a time when state borders are increasingly shut this book aims to show us that a border is made by those who cross it as much as by those who stand by it Contributors are Ettore Morelli Fernando Mouta Pierluigi Valsecchi Mar a Jos Pont Ch fer Giulia Casentini and Aim Raoul Sumo Tayo

Doing Spatial History Riccardo Bavaj, Konrad Lawson, Bernhard Struck, 2021-12-30 This volume provides a practical introduction to spatial history through the lens of the different primary sources that historians use It is informed by a range of analytical perspectives and conveys a sense of the various facets of spatial history in a tangible case study based manner The chapter authors hail from a variety of fields including early modern and modern history architectural history historical anthropology economic and social history as well as historical and human geography highlighting the way in which spatial history provides a common forum that facilitates discussion across disciplines The geographical scope of the volume takes readers on a journey through central western and east central Europe to Russia the Mediterranean the Ottoman Empire and East Asia as well as North and South America and New Zealand Divided into three parts the book covers particular types of sources different kinds of space and specific concepts tools and approaches offering the reader a thorough understanding of how sources can be used within spatial history specifically but also the different ways of looking at history more broadly Very much focusing on doing spatial history this is an accessible guide for both undergraduate and postgraduate students within modern history and its related fields

The Nature of the Path Marcus Filippello, 2017-01-17 The Nature of the Path reveals how a single road has shaped the collective identity of a community that has existed on the margins of larger societies for centuries Marcus Filippello shows how a road running through the Lama Valley in Southeastern Benin has become a mnemonic device that has allowed residents to counter prevailing histories Built by the French colonial government and following a traditional pathway the road serves as a site where the h ri people narrate their changing relationship to the environment and assert their independence in the political milieu of colonial and postcolonial Africa Filippello first visited the Yor b speaking h ri community in Benin knowing only the history in archival records Over several years he interviewed more than 100 people with family roots in the valley and discovered that their personal identities were closely tied to the community which in turn was inextricably linked to the history of the road that snakes through the region's seasonal wetlands The road contested welcomed and obstructed over many years passes through fertile farmlands and sacred forests both rich in meaning for residents Filippello's research seeks to counter prevailing notions of Africa as an exotic and pristine yet contrarily war torn disease ridden environmentally challenged and impoverished continent His informants vivid construction of history through the prism of the road coupled with his own archival research offers new insights into Africans complex understandings of autonomy identity and engagement in the slow process we call modernization

The Oxford Handbook of the African Sahel Leonardo A. Villalón, 2021-10-15 Long on the margins of both scholarly and policy concerns the countries of the West African Sahel have recently attracted world attention primarily as a key battleground in the global war on terror This book moves beyond this narrow focus providing a multidimensional and interdisciplinary assessment of the region in all of its complexity The focus is on the six countries at the heart of the Sahelian geographic space Senegal Mauritania Mali Burkina Faso Niger and Chad Collectively the chapters explore the commonalities and interconnections that link these countries and their fates while also underscoring their diversity and the variations in their current realities The Sahel today is at an important crossroads under multiple pressures of diverse kinds environmental political demographic and economic as well as rapidly changing social and religious dynamics It is also marked by striking dynamism and experimentation drawing on a long history of innovation and cultural transfer In many ways the Sahel is today on the cutting edge of grand natural experiments exploring how humans will adapt to climate change to technological innovation to the global movement of populations and the restructuring of world politics to urbanization social change and rapid demographic growth and to inter religious contact The region is a weathervane on the front lines of the forces of global change In nine thematic sections the chapters in this book offer holistic analyses of the key forces shaping the region Including scholars based in Africa Europe and the United States the authors represent an exceptional breadth and depth of expertise on the Sahel

Cartography and the Political Imagination Julie MacArthur, 2016-06-30 After four decades of British rule in colonial Kenya a previously unknown ethnic name Luyia appeared on the official census in 1948 The emergence of the Luyia represents a clear case of ethnic invention At the same time current restrictive theories privileging ethnic homogeneity fail to explain this defiantly diverse ethnic project which now comprises the second largest ethnic group in Kenya In Cartography and the Political Imagination which encompasses social history geography and political science Julie MacArthur unpacks Luyia origins In so doing she calls for a shift to understanding geographic imagination and mapping not only as means of enforcing imperial power and constraining colonized populations but as tools for articulating new political communities and dissent Through cartography Luyia ethnic patriots crafted an identity for themselves characterized by plurality mobility and cosmopolitan belonging While other historians have focused on the official maps of imperial surveyors MacArthur scrutinizes the ways African communities adopted and adapted mapping strategies to their own ongoing creative projects This book marks an important reassessment of current theories of ethnogenesis investigates the geographic imaginations of African communities and challenges contemporary readings of community and conflict in Africa

Race and Rurality in the Global Economy Michaeline A. Crichlow, Patricia Northover, Juan Giusti-Cordero, 2018-09-26 Issues of migration environment rurality and the visceral politics of place and space have occupied center stage in recent electoral political struggles in the United States and Europe suffused by an antiglobalization discourse that has come to resonate with Euro American peoples Race and Rurality in the Global Economy suggests that this present fractious global politics begs for closer attention to be paid to the deep rooted conditions and outcomes of globalization and development From multiple viewpoints the contributors to this volume propose ways of understanding the ongoing processes of globalization that configure peoples and places via a politics of rurality in a capitalist world economy and through an optics of raciality that intersects with class gender identity land and environment In tackling the dynamics of space and place their essays address matters such as the heightened risks and multiple states of insecurity in the global economy the new logics of expulsion and primitive accumulation dynamics shaping a new savage sorting patterns of resistance and transformation in the face of globalization s political and environmental changes the steady decline in the livelihoods of people of color globally and their deepened vulnerabilities and the complex reconstitution of systemic and lived racialization within these processes This book is an invitation to ask whether our dystopia in present politics can be disentangled from the deepening sense of white fragility in the context of the historical power of globalization s raced effects This book is freely available in an open access edition thanks to Knowledge Unlatched an initiative that provides libraries and institutions with a centralized platform to support OA collections and from leading publishing houses and OA initiatives Learn more at the Knowledge Unlatched website at <https://www.knowledgeunlatched.org> and access the book online at the SUNY Open Access Repository at <http://hdl.handle.net/20.500.12648/7136>

Africa and World War II Judith Ann-Marie Byfield, Carolyn A. Brown, Timothy Parsons, Ahmad Alawad Sikainga, 2015-04-20 This volume offers a fresh perspective on Africa s central role in the Allied victory in World War II Its detailed case studies from all parts of Africa enable us to understand how African communities sustained the Allied war effort and how they were transformed in the process Together the chapters provide a continent wide perspective

Claiming Civic Virtue Jan Bender Shetler, 2019-07-09 Among communities in the Mara region of Tanzania it is considered men s responsibility to maintain history But when Jan Bender Shetler s questions turned to specific familial connections within the village she discovered her male informants had to occasionally leave the room to ask their wives for clarification The result is an original and wide ranging investigation of the gendered nature of historical memory and its influence on the development of the region over the past 150 years Shetler s exploration of these oral traditions and histories opens exciting new vistas for understanding how women and men in this culture tell their stories and assert their roles as public intellectuals with important implications for research in African and gender studies and the history of ethnicity and nationalism Cultures of Migration Hans Peter Hahn, Georg Klute, 2007 International Migrations have become a central topic in the Humanities in the last years Understanding migration requires a closer look at the migratory phenomena and the continuities within the societies involved in the migration process This volume intends to overcome simplistic views on migration and the shortcomings of a push and pull factor analysis Instead the perspective of the migrants themselves orients the approach of cultures of migration In this view migration becomes a complex issue and motives and acceptance of migration appear to be a matter of negotiations in the migrants societies of origin and in the host societies as well The present volume brings together a number of essays exploring the cultures of migration in various contexts It is organised in three sections dealing with Migrations as Encounters Migration as Challenge and Transcontinental Migrants Ten contributions each based on original fieldwork in various parts of Africa examine the validity of the concept of cultures of migration as explained in the introduction
