Spatial Policy In A Divided Nation:

Spatial Policy in a Divided Nation Richard T. Harrison, Mark Hart, 2002-09 This re evaluation of the role of regional policy in the UK has been accompanied by a much closer identification of regional policy with national economic policymaking This book drawing upon the contributions of a large number of experts in the field in the UK sets the debate on the future of spatial policy explicitly within the context of the economics and politics of the North South divide Recent policy debates in the United Kingdom have highlighted two major issues which will shape future policy developments and their impact in the 1990s the persistence of pronounced regional economic and social imbalances and the shift away from traditional perceptions of the role of regional policy with a new emphasis on inner city as opposed to regional problems In this collection by leading researchers in the field the role of regional policy in the UK is re evaluated against a background of renewed debate on the economic disparities inherent in the north south divide and an assessment of the implications for future policy

Regional Development in the 1990s Ron Martin, Peter Townroe, 2013-10-18 This book documents the changing nature and challenge of regional development in Britain and Ireland in the final decade of this century In the first half of this book region by region profiles review the experience of the eighties and reflect on the present climate assessing problems and opportunities The second half provides 25 commentaries on changes influencing the development of regions from questions of industry technology and employment to the impact of national policy and 1992 and the prospects and capacity for regional policy and development

Institutions, Discourse, and Regional Development Henrik Halkier, 2006 Why are some regional development strategies adopted and others rejected Only limited systematic attention has been paid to the politics of regional policy including the role of institutions discourse and political debate in shaping this major area of public policy The book develops an institutionalist approach to the study of regional policy capable of spanning major European development paradigms and accounting for the dynamic relationship between organisations policies and political discourse This conceptual framework is then applied to the Scottish Development Agency a development body famed across Europe for its innovative policies but surrounded by political controversy in Scotland A detailed study of corporate strategies policy implementation and the wider British environment questions existing interpretations of the organisation which tend to vilify anti interventionist Thatcherites or glorify shrewd development professionals Instead the author proposes an alternative synthesis which highlights the interplay between institutions discourse and regional development in the politics of regional policy

Devolution, Regionalism and Regional Development Jonathan Bradbury, 2007-12-18 Devolution Regionalism and Regional Development provides an overview and critical perspective on the impact of devolution on regionalism in the UK since 1999 taking a research based look at issues central to the development of regionalism politics governance and planning This multidisciplinary book is written by academics from the fields of geography economics town planning public policy management public administration politics and sociology with a final chapter by Patrick Le Gales putting the research findings into a theoretical context This will be an important book for those researching and studying economic and political geography and planning as well as those involved in regional development Territorial Policy and Governance Iain Deas, Stephen Hincks, 2017-02-24 In response to both policy and conceptual debates alternative narratives have begun to emerge about territorial governance and policymaking As local and regional policy actors strive to respond to the geographically uneven effects of the economic crises of the early twenty first century a crucial question emerges what are the opportunities and challenges presented by alternative forms of territorially based governance and policy The aim of this edited volume therefore is critically to explore the opportunities and challenges presented by different forms of territorial policy and governance Drawing on conceptual debates and empirical research from the United Kingdom and other international contexts the contributors engage with issues around the politics and governance of territorial development economic development planning and regeneration and the environment Territorial Policy and Governance addresses the question of how alternative forms of territorial governance and policy can help to shape patterns of urban and regional development highlighting the related opportunities constraints and challenges that confront their operationalisation This book will be essential reading for international audiences with an interest in territorial development governance politics human geography and planning and regeneration Small Firm Formation and Regional Economic Development Mike Danson, 2002-09-26 Drawing on studies and expertise from around the world this book describes the transition from research to policy and covers the pre requisites to successful new firm formation policies At a time when a new firm formation is promoted by central and local government business development agencies and the private sector this book questions the economic dependence on small firms and explores the relevance of networking information and advice Controversies in Local Economic Development Martin Perry, 2010-07-02 This book will discuss seven controversies in local economic development including knowledge and learning the provision of resources to nurture entrepreneurial talent innovation clusters of enterprise and inward investment Place-making and Urban Development Pier Carlo Palermo, Davide Ponzini, 2014-12-05 The regeneration of critical urban areas through the redesign of public space with the intense involvement of local communities seems to be the central focus of place making according to some widespread practices in academic and professional circles Recently new expertise maintains that place making could be an innovative and potentially autonomous field competing with more traditional disciplines like urban planning urban design architecture and others This book affirms that the question of making better places for people should be understood in a broader sense as a symptom of the non contingent limitations of the urban and spatial disciplines It maintains that research should not be oriented only towards new technical or merely formal solutions but rather towards the profound rethinking of disciplinary paradigms In the fields of urban planning urban design and policy making the challenge of place making provides scholars and practitioners a great opportunity for a much needed critical review Only the substantial reappraisal of long standing technical cultural institutional and social premises and perspectives can truly improve place making practices The pressing need for place making implies trespassing undue disciplinary boundaries and experimenting a place based approach that can innovate and integrate planning regulations strategic spatial visioning and urban development projects Moreover the place making challenge compels urban experts and policy makers to critically reflect upon the physical and social contexts of their interventions In this sense facing place making today is a way to renew the civic and social role of urban planning and urban design

Governance, Institutional Change and Regional Development Mike Danson, Henrick Halkier, Greta Cameron, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2000 This volume addresses the prominent role given to institution building institutional change and governance in the regional development strategies and policies The establishment of the Scottish Parliament Welsh and Northern Ireland Assemblies and the arrival of regional development agencies in England highlighted the need to put the initiatives into some context drawing on experience from across Europe on the critical factors in the determination of the potential and success of regions Central to the discussions presented here by a group of European experts are the question of governance how does an ongoing process of institution building affect the ways in which regions and localities are governed including questions of democracy participation regional self determination public private partnerships networks and accountability and the consequences of new modes of governance and institutional change for regional development strategies and policies particularly in the context of large scale industrial restructuring and city region and urban regeneration

Community-based Entrepreneurship and Rural Development Matthias Fink, Stephan Loidl, Richard Lang, 2012-08-21 How can municipalities in Central Europe create favourable conditions for local business What and how can municipalities learn from each other How can each individual in the local area contribute And what requirements have to be met before know how can successfully be transferred on a communal level To answer all these questions the authors of this book draw on results from a six year research programme and comprehensively discuss the manifold opportunities restrictions and prerequisites of establishing favourable conditions for small and medium enterprises in rural municipalities in Central Europe
