The Dynamics of Black Sea Subregionalism Panagiota Manoli, 2016-03-23 Conflict and cooperation are two dynamics that have shaped the political economy and international relations around the Black Sea since the early nineties Despite the negative structural environment and the persistence of a high security dilemma cooperative efforts among Black Sea actors primarily state elites but increasingly non state actors have been advancing even though slowly Representing a new development in the study of contemporary regionalism Panagiota Manoli examines the process of institutionalized subregional cooperation and casts new

Confidence Building Measures In The Middle East Gabriel Ben-dor, 2019-03-11 Confidence Building Measures CBMs were pioneered in Europe at the height of the Cold War The immediate goal of such measures is to create enough trust between parties in international conflicts to avoid mutually unfavourable sometimes dangerous outcomes due to misunderstandings The long term goal of CBMs is to move the contending parties closer The Quest for Security in the Caribbean Ivelaw L. Griffith, 2015-06-11 This comprehensive work on security in the English speaking Caribbean offers a wealth of information about the history politics economics and geography of the entire region The author examines security problems in the region as a geopolitical unit not on a selective case study basis as is usually done He assesses Caribbean security within a theoretical framework where four factors are critical perceptions of the political elites capabilities of the states the geopolitics of the area and the ideological orientations of the parties in power Political and economic issues are judged to be as relevant to security as military factors The author identifies safeguards which countries in the region may take in the coming decade
