Subsidies In World Fisheries A Reexamination:

Subsidies in World Fisheries Matteo Milazzo, 1998-01-01 In the past six years the world's fishery sector has reached a turning point with global fish production reaching a plateau of approximately 100 million tons annually While aquaculture output continued to grow yields from capture fisheries were uneven and showed increasing signs of stagnation because of widespread overfishing and overcapitalization ineffective management deteriorating resource health declining or flat global harvests and inefficient economic and trade policies This paper examines the role of subsidies in fisheries Fisheries Subsidies, Sustainable Development and the WTO Anja von Moltke, 2014-10-14 Chapter 3 National Experiences with Subsidies their Impacts and Reform Processes Introduction Fisheries Subsidies The Senegalese Experience The Impact of Fisheries Subsidies on Tuna Sustainability and Trade in Ecuador Fisheries Subsidy Reform in Norway Common lessons from Senegal Ecuador and Norway Cases Chapter 4 Emergence of an International Issue History of Fisheries Subsidies in the WTO Introduction Phase I Early Analysis and Preliminary International Action Phase II Globalization and the Shift of Focus to the WTO Phase III The WTO Negotiations Take Shape Fisheries Subsidies under International Law Chen-Ju Chen, 2010-09-17 Subsidies to fisheries have been in existence for centuries However these remained outside the spotlight of the international community until the turn of this century when the negative effects that fisheries subsidies have on international trade the environment and sustainable development became increasingly clear As a result the Doha Round Negotiations set the parameters for an effective fisheries subsidies regime WTO Members thus embarked in intensive negotiations with the collaboration of various international organizations These negotiations culminated with publication of the legal text of the Chairman of the Negotiating Group on Rules in 2007 which reflects to a large extent the mandates of the Ministerial Conferences and reconciles the diverse interests of the negotiators The EU as a major WTO Member and with its own Common Fisheries Policy which has been in effect for a number of years can serve as the basis for comparison and improvement of the proposed regulations Advances in Fisheries Bioeconomics Juan Carlos Seijo, Jon G. Sutinen, 2018-04-17 Efforts to effectively conserve and manage marine resources are facing increasing complexity of environmental and governance challenges To address some of these challenges this book presents advancements in fisheries bioeconomics research that provides significant ideas for addressing emerging environmental and fisheries management issues Advances in Fisheries Bioeconomics gives insights into innovative approaches dealing with these issues as well as novel ideas on changes in fisheries management paradigms With contributions from leading experts in the field this book offers an examination of a number of topics including ecosystem based fisheries management by catch management and discard bans the number of players in the fisheries game the effects of ocean acidification and the trends and impacts of eco labeling and eco certification of fisheries Through integrating resource biology and ecology with the economics of fishers behaviour the authors provide valuable analysis of the current issues in fisheries management This book will be of interest to those on advanced courses in fisheries science natural resource biology and ecology and environmental and natural resource economics It will also appeal to researchers policy makers and advocacy groups around the world Fisheries and Sustainability Emma Victoria Witbooi,2011-11-11 Employing an inter disciplinary and contextual approach this book is a legal study which reflects political and ecological realities and their inter relation in the context of sustainable marine fisheries focusing on specific EU West African bilateral fisheries relations Report of the Expert Consultation on Economic Incentives and Responsible Fisheries, Rome, 28 November - 1 December 2000 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2000 The Consultation defined four sets of subsidies and recommended that these Sets of subsidies be referred to in future discussions and analysis of subsidies The experts concluded that empirical knowledge of impact is extremely weak This is true both in respect of impact on trade and impact on fishery resources The Consultation identified priorities for further research about the impact of subsidies In respect of impact on fishery resources priority for future study was given for the following categories capital expansion tax waivers and deferrals and price support With respect to impact on trade the experts assigned priorities to future study of actions that would reduce the relative price of inputs and reduce fishing effort and to management and regulatory actions The experts also discussed the methods that would be best suited to carry out these studies The Blue Compendium Jane Lubchenco,Peter M. Haugan,2023-05-24 Home to over 80 percent of all life on Earth the ocean is the world s largest carbon sink and a key source of food and economic security for billions of people The relevance of the ocean for humanity s future is undisputed However the ocean s great potential to drive economic growth and equitable job creation sustain healthy ecosystems and mitigate climate change is not yet fully recognised Lack of awareness of this potential as well as management and governance challenges pose impediments Until these impediments are removed ocean ecosystems will continue to be degraded and opportunities for people lost A transition and a clear path to a thriving and vibrant relationship between humans and the ocean are urgently needed This open access collection of papers and reports identifies a path that is inspired by science energised by engaged people and emboldened by visionary leaders These assessments of knowledge are commissioned by the High Level Panel for a Sustainable Ocean Economy Ocean Panel which was established in September 2018 as a unique initiative led by heads of state and government from around the world to showcase the latest leading edge science knowledge and state of the art thinking on key ocean issues Altogether The Blue Compendium offers innovative ocean solutions in technology policy governance and finance realms that could help accelerate a transition to a more sustainable and prosperous relationship with the ocean The comprehensive assessments have already informed policy making at the highest levels of government and motivated an impressive array of responsive and ambitious action across a growing network of leaders in business finance and civil society Net Gains Carolyn Deere,2000 Discusses the linkages between trade environment and sustainable development in the marine capture fisheries sector The Elgar Companion to the World Trade Organization Julien Chaisse,Cristián Rodríguez-Chiffelle,2023-12-11 This comprehensive

Companion provides an extensive guide to understanding the World Trade Organization WTO and its impact on the global economy Addressing the challenges facing the WTO amidst a rapidly evolving landscape the book delves into the diverse trade policies of countries and regions providing rare insights into their impact on the global trade governance frameworks

The Economics and Management of World Fisheries Trond Bjørndal, Gordon Munro, 2012-10-25 Over the past several decades there has been increasing interest in and concern about the economics of the world's capture fishery resources Massive amounts of resource rent are being lost because of inadequate management and major rebuilding of fishery resources is called for This book draws together the latest economic theory of the management of these resources at both the national and the international levels and highlights areas where further research is urgently required The emphasis is on world capture fisheries rather than fisheries of specific regions and examples are drawn upon from both developed and developing countries It combines economic theory and empirical testing with an examination and analysis of resource policy options with particular emphasis on fisheries management policies at the international level where some of the most difficult resource management problems are found The authors maintain that capture fishery resources are properly viewed as a part of society's portfolio of natural capital assets Consequently a central theme of the book is that managing such resources should be viewed as asset management through time Written by two leading authorities this accessible textbook has been specially developed to meet the needs of students taking courses on fisheries management as well as professionals working in this area for governments and international organisations
