Ten Tough Trips:

Ten Tough Trips William W. Bevis, 2004-04-01 Ten Tough Trips is William W. Bevis's literary journey through the works of ten of the West's most prominent authors including A. B. Guthrie Jr., D. Arcy McNickle, James Welch, Richard Hugo, Ivan Doig, and Norman Maclean. In a series of essays originally assembled to complement The Last Best Place, a Montana Anthology, Bevis deflates European myths of escape to a natural West beyond civilization and shows how Montana has developed its own voice true to the complications and austerities of a splendid land. His chapters on Native American writers have been especially well received. Through sensitive and discerning analysis, Bevis shows how love of the land can become more enduring and haunting even as the myths are stripped away, and in a new afterword he addresses the emergence of important women writers from 1990 to the present. Of particular note is his consideration of Mary Clearman Blew and her extraordinary memoir All But the Waltz, which Bevis believes to be a pioneering work reflective of the post-modern West.

BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc. All Rights Reserved Fifty Years After The Big Sky William E. Farr, William W. Bevis, 2001 Writers, historians, and public intellectuals from James Welch and Mary Clearman Blew to Dan Flores, William W. Bevis, and Daniel Kemmis explore A. B. Guthrie's life and legacy in Fifty Years After The Big Sky. New Perspectives on the Fiction and Films of A. B. Guthrie Jr. Best known for his novels The Big Sky and The Way West and as the author of the screenplay for the movie classic Shane, A. B. Guthrie is a much-loved but under-studied Montana author. There has been almost no serious study of Guthrie's work until now. This wide-ranging anthology examines this beloved western author in multiple contexts. Essays examine Guthrie's relationship with the movie industry, how the Cold War influenced Guthrie's work, how people in his hometown of Choteau, Montana, and others close to him remember the man, and how the myths that lie at the core of Guthrie's fiction haunt today's Montanans. That Dream Shall Have a Name David

L. Moore, 2020-04-01 The founding idea of America has been based largely on the expected sweeping away of Native Americans to make room for Euro-Americans and their cultures. In this authoritative study, David L. Moore examines the works of five well-known Native American writers and their efforts beginning in the colonial period to redefine an American and American identity that includes Native Americans. That Dream Shall Have a Name focuses on the writing of Pequot Methodist minister William Apess in the 1830s, on Northern Paiute activist Sarah Winnemucca in the 1880s, on Salish M. Tisnovist historian and activist D. Arcy McNickle in the 1930s, and on Laguna poet and novelist Leslie Marmon Silko and on Spokane poet, novelist, humorist, and filmmaker Sherman Alexie both in the latter twentieth and early twenty-first centuries. Moore studies these five writers' stories about the conflicted topics of sovereignty, community identity, and authenticity, always tinged with irony and often with humor. He shows how Native Americans have tried from the beginning to shape an American narrative closer to its own ideals, one that does not include the death and destruction of their peoples. This compelling work offers keen insights into the relationships between Native and American identity and politics in a way that is both accessible to newcomers and compelling to those already familiar with these fields of study Encyclopedia of the American Novel Abby H. P. Werlock, 2015-04-22 Praise for the print edition no other reference work on American fiction brings together such an array of authors and texts as this Native Homelands along the Lewis & Clark Trail , Rooted at the Edge Donna L. Erickson, 2025-04 Rooted at the Edge paints a portrait of a ranching community in a threatened landscape steeped in history conflict and beauty In this narrative nonfiction work Donna L Erickson explores the hilly skirt of ground at the northern boundary of Missoula Montana separating the town from the wilderness beyond The North Hills region represents the critical and often highly personal issues at play at the edge of many western towns The urban rural fringe is both valuable and vulnerable Across the West rural lifestyles are increasingly compromised by suburbanization economic hardship and family dynamics a way of life and a way of work are vanishing Ranchland may be simultaneously cherished by a family for the life its members have made there and coveted by urban neighbors for open space Community residents may love a place for its scenery and wildlife habitat while others wish it converted to a commercial parking lot Complex ecological relationships can be bulldozed in a single afternoon And the threats of climate change and shifting populations compromise the edge even more In the tension between love and loss Erickson wrote this story of a landscape s soft contours piney ridges shady draws and grassy slopes and its potential disappearance under an expanding city Rooted at the Edge conveys in a way that statistics cannot what s at stake when ranches at the urban fringe are threatened A Companion to the Regional Literatures of America Charles L. Crow, 2008-04-15 The Blackwell Companion to American Regional Literature is the most comprehensive resource yet published for study of this popular field The most inclusive survey yet published of American regional literature Represents a wide variety of theoretical and historical approaches Surveys the literature of specific regions from California to New England and from Alaska to Hawaii Discusses authors and groups who have been important in defining regional American literature Singing an Indian Song Dorothy R. Parker, 1994-11-01 One of the foremost Native American intellectuals of his generation 1904-77 D Arcy McNickle is best known today for the American Indian history center that carries his name at the Newberry Library in Chicago and for his novels The Surrounded Runner in the Sun and Wind from an Enemy Sky A historian and novelist he was also an anthropologist Bureau of Indian Affairs official during the heady days of the Indian New Deal teacher and founding member of the National Congress of American Indians The child of a M tis mother and white father he was an enrolled member of the Flathead Tribe of Montana But first and largely by choice he was a Native American who sought to restore pride and self determination to all Native American people Based on a wide range of previously untapped sources this first full length biography traces the course of McNickle s life from the reservation of his childhood through a career of major import to American Indian political and cultural affairs In so doing it reveals a man who affirmed his own heritage while giving a collective Indian voice to many who had previously seen themselves only in a tribal context Reading the West Michael Kowalewski, 1996-02-23 The American West of myth and legend has always exerted a strong hold on the popular imagination and the essays in Reading the West examine some of the basis of that fascination. Reading the West first published in 1996 is a collection of critical essays by writers independent scholars and critics on the literature of the American West in the last two centuries. It showcases new ways of reading and understanding western writing. Arguing for the importance of place in literature these essays explore what makes representative literary works western. They also explore the multicultural and ecological dimensions of western writing. This volume helps enrich our understanding of a distinguished body of literary work which has sometimes been unjustly ignored. It deals not only with literature but with the changing conception of the West in the American imagination. Borneo Log William W. Bevis, 1995
