Spaceflight Life Support And Biospheres:

Spaceflight Life Support and Biospherics P. Eckart, 2013-11-11 Spaceflight Life Support and Biospherics is the introduction to space life support systems and artificial ecosystems that has so far been lacking. It is a source of information for everyone involved in the life support system design and development process: engineers, scientists, and students, as well as all those who are simply interested in this existing discipline. The structure of this book is such that it gives step by step answers to the basic questions concerning life support systems on any scale from small microbial systems to the Earth's biosphere. Why life support system development and biosphere research? How does our natural life support system, the biosphere, work? What are the environmental conditions for life support systems in space? What are the fundamental terms and requirements of life support? Which physicochemical life support subsystems currently exist? Which are the potential bioregenerative life support technologies of the future? What are life support systems of future planetary habitats going to look like? What are the experiences of the largest artificial ecosystem, Biosphere 2? What are the potential terrestrial benefits of life support development? LIST Nutrition in Spaceflight and Weightlessness Models Helen W. Lane, Dale A.

Schoeller, 1999-12-20 Tens of thousands of miles above Earth's atmosphere, orbiting this planet like pieces from a child's giant erector set, NASA's massive International Space Station slowly takes shape. When completed, as many as 16 countries will provide crew members for this orbiting international community. But while this will not be the first extended stay of humans in space, Skylab, Mir, Space Station, and Shuttle-Mir missions all involved extended stay periods; it will give birth to some new questions about one of space exploration's biggest concerns: providing adequate nutrition essential to good physical and mental health in space. Nutrition in Spaceflight and Weightlessness Models consolidates nutritional observations from 38 years of human spaceflight. It is a compilation of nutritional knowledge and accomplishments from the early 1970s to the recent Shuttle-MIR program. It provides basic nutritional concepts as well as broad coverage of the effect of space and weightlessness on nutrition status and physiology. Nutrition in Spaceflight and Weightlessness Models addresses the utility of ground-based weightlessness simulations, the role of electrolytes, calcium, protein, iron, and micronutrients in optimal nutrition, and energy utilization by space crews. The book also explores regenerative life support and food systems for space and planetary missions, the results of basic research in metabolism that illustrate the physiological changes that occur during spaceflight, new concepts and recommendations for astronaut nutrition in future spaceflights, and the lab capabilities of the International Space Station. Handbook of Plant and Crop Physiology Mohammad Pessarakli, 2001-09-18 With contributions from over 70 international experts, this reference provides comprehensive coverage of plant physiological stages and processes under both normal and stressful conditions. It emphasizes environmental factors, climatic changes, developmental stages, and growth regulators, as well as linking plant and crop physiology to the production of food, feed, and medicinal compounds. Offering over 300 useful tables, equations, drawings, photographs, and micrographs, the book covers

Crop Production for Advanced Life Support Systems - Observations From the Kennedy Space Center Breadboard Project, 2003 Life Support & Biospherics Peter Eckart, 1994 Space Life Sciences, 2003 The Moon David Schrunk, Burton Sharpe, Bonnie L. Cooper, Madhu Thangavelu, 2007-11-27

This extraordinary book details how the Moon could be used as a springboard for Solar System exploration. It presents a realistic plan for placing and servicing telescopes on the Moon and highlights the use of the Moon as a base for an early warning system from which to combat threats of near Earth objects. A realistic vision of human development and settlement of the Moon over the next one hundred years is presented and the author explains how global living standards for the Earth can be enhanced through the use of lunar based generated solar power. From that beginning the people of the Earth would evolve into a spacefaring civilisation.
