Subnational Budgeting In Russia:

Subnational Budgeting in Russia Lev M. Freinkman, Daniel Treisman, Stepan Titov, 1999-01-01 Not only are Russia's regions economically diverse but the policies that regional governments have adopted to deal with the strains of economic transition also vary widely. Some regions have generally embraced market reforms while others have sought to preserve enclaves of socialism with price restrictions, large subsidies and barriers to trade. Reforms of Russia's budgetary system at the subnational level are vital to preserve macroeconomic stability, improve the efficiency and accountability of government and enhance incentives for local and regional governments to vigorously support economic growth. Previous analytical and reform efforts have focused on possible changes at the federal level and in the system of center-region relations. An opportunity now exists to make progress by providing reform advice and conditional aid to policymakers at the regional and subregional level. This report focuses on opportunities for reform at the subnational level. It reviews recent trends in fiscal adjustment, budgeting and government debt at the regional and local levels in Russia. It analyzes major problems and suggests a number of measures and performance indicators that could form part of a reform strategy initiated by the Government of Russia.

Subnational Budgeting in Russia Lev Freinkman, 2014. Most previous fiscal reforms in Russia have focused on problems at the federal level or in the system of federal transfers to the regional governments. This report focuses instead on opportunities for reform at the subnational level. It reviews recent trends in fiscal adjustment, budgeting and government debt at the regional and local levels in Russia. It analyzes major problems and suggests a number of measures and performance indicators that could form part of a reform strategy initiated by the Government of Russia. Key directions for subnational fiscal reform include the following:

- Clarification of Subnational Government Functions: Subnational governments need to complete the clarification of responsibilities between public and private sectors as well as between regional and municipal government levels. Both of these have direct implications for fiscal performance of subnational governments.
- Developing a Regulatory Framework: Subnational governments need to adopt regional and local laws and regulations that are consistent with federal laws and enhance the transparency, predictability and accountability of the budget process. Laws and regulations should clarify responsibilities within regional and local governments and legislatures for budget preparation, approval, implementation and control.
- Budget Consolidation: Major forms of off-budget activities, especially extrabudgetary funds, tax exemptions, budget guarantees and noncash government operations, need to be reduced in scope and integrated within the regular budget.
- Budget Preparation and Expenditure Management: Necessary reforms cover several key areas: i) reorganization of budget classification system; ii) introduction of expenditure accounting on the commitment basis; iii) establishing a treasury system of budget execution; iv) expansion of competitive tendering for public procurement; v) introduction of new budgeting principles in key sectors such as education and health; vi) improvements in budget preparation to reduce the need for budget sequestration; vii) strengthening the budget audit function; and viii) adoption
