Subsidies Competition In The European Union:

Politics, Subsidies and Competition Kostas A. Lavdas, Maria M. Mendrinou, 1999 Politics Subsidies and Competition focuses on the interplay of political economic and institutional legal factors in the formation of European competition policy with particular emphasis on European Union control of national subsidies This book demonstrates the increasing significance of the EU in the management of European economies It argues that state subsidization is the only remaining effective form of state intervention because in the integrated European market state aid ranging from investment and export aid to special tax concessions has become the only instrument that can be used to favour and protect national industries This makes the control of state subsidization more important than ever and the European Community's attempts to increase this control since the mid 1970s tell an intriguing story of fierce intergovernmental bargaining business lobbying and increasingly assertive EC EU institutions The argument is supported by evidence of the evolution of European policy and by case studies of sectoral aid regimes and their transformation in interaction with EU policy This book will be of use to students and scholars of the economics and politics of Western Europe and regional and public policy Regional State Aid and Competition Policy Fiona Wishlade, 2003-01-01 The increasing importance attached to the economic and social cohesion of the European Union since the 1980s and the role of competition policy in achieving this objective has special significance for the control of regional aids given the general ban on State aid Regional aids are considered to have the potential to contribute to economic and social cohesion and to undermine its attainment The notion of competition policy as an instrument of economic and social cohesion has become a standard part of Commission rhetoric in defence of its actions This book is concerned with the influence of EU competition policy on the regional policies of the Member States It focuses on how the European Commission has interpreted the derogations from the State aid ban to enable the conduct of regional aid policies The book takes both a historical perspective tracing the evolution of policy and a thematic one examining in particular the relationship between EU competition and cohesion policies and the treatment of aid to very large projects The author clearly demonstrates that in reality the competition policy control of regional aids is of much longer standing than the community's explicit regional aid policy and in many respects of arguably greater influence She shows how competition policy has for almost thirty years shaped the design scope and implementation of national regional aid policies in no EU country has regional policy been unaffected by Commission intervention in the name of competition policy Moreover the policy principles developed for the EU now apply extraterritorially to members of the European Economic Area and to the current applicant countries The study's overall perspective is policy oriented It considers both the impact of Commission intervention in the past and the implications of policy for the future especially in the context of enlargement and a wider Europe It will be an invaluable resource for all policymakers and practitioners active in the fields of economic development regional policy and State aid law at European national and subnational levels Subsidies and Competition in the European

European Union Competition Policy versus Industrial

Competitiveness Hikaru Yoshizawa, 2021-11-10 The book examines whether EU competition policy is applied fairly and consistently to EU and non EU firms despite persistent political pressure from member states for a relaxation of the rules and deals with the dilemma of regional organisations in the global political economy Focussing on the EU's desire to achieve balance between the promotion of market competition and the enhancement of international competitiveness the book explores the validity of its attempts successfully to ensure a stringent competition policy which is nationality blind and comparatively strict Finally it shows that the competition competitiveness dilemma remains unresolved because the EU's capability to set global regulatory standards is constrained by competition and the need to engage in multilateral forums such as the WTO and the International Competition Network This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of European Union studies EU competition law and policy EU external action and more broadly to global governance international political economy and international relations The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Competing for Capital Kenneth P. Thomas, 2000-10-19 As corporations search for new production sites governments compete furiously using location subsidies and tax incentives to lure them Yet underwriting big business can have its costs reduction in economic efficiency shifting of tax burdens worsening of economic inequalities or environmental degradation Competing for Capital is one of the first books to analyze competition for investment in order to suggest ways of controlling the effects of capital mobility Comparing the European Union's strict regulation of state aid to business with the virtually unregulated investment competition in the United States and Canada Kenneth P Thomas documents Europe's relative success in controlling and decreasing subsidies to business even while they rise in the United States Thomas provides an extensive history of the powers granted to the EU's governing European Commission for controlling subsidies and draws on data to show that those efforts are paying off In reviewing trends in North America he offers the first comprehensive estimate of U.S. subsidies to business at all levels to show that the United States is a much higher subsidizer than it portrays itself as being Thomas then suggests what we might learn from the European experience to control the effects of capital mobility not only within or between states but also globally within NAFTA and the World Trade Organization as well He concludes with policy recommendations to help promote international cooperation and cross fertilization of ways to control competition for investment
