Sufi Saints And State Power The Pirs Of Sind 1843 1947:

Sufi Saints and State Power Sarah F. D. Ansari, 1992-01-31 In this book Dr Sarah Ansari examines the system of political control constructed by the British in Sind between 1843 and 1947 In particular she explores the part of the local Muslim elite the pirs or hereditary sufi saints Using a wealth of historical material and in depth interviews the author looks at the development of the institution of the pir its power base and the mechanics of the system of control into which the pirs were drawn The overall success of the political system depended on the willingness of the elite to participate and Dr Ansari argues that it did indeed work in Sind This enabled the British to govern while allowing the pirs to adapt to colonial rule and later independence without serious damage to their interests The author demonstrates that only in the heightened nationalist atmosphere of the 1940s did the system break down Landlord Power and Rural Indebtedness in Colonial Sind David Cheesman, 2013-12-16 Investigates the alliance between the British administration and the Muslim landed magnates who dominated the countryside and provides valuable insights into the emergence of the elite s governing Pakistan today

Islam and Sectarian Violence in Pakistan Eamon Murphy, 2018-10-23 This book analyses the growth of sectarian based terrorist violence in Pakistan one of the Muslim majority states most affected by sectarian violence ever since it was established in 1947 Sectarian violence among Muslims has emerged as a major global security problem in recent years The author argues that the upsurge in sectarian violence in Pakistan particularly since the late 1970s has had less to do with theological differences between the various sects of Islam but is a consequence of the specific political social economic demographic and cultural changes that have taken place in Pakistan since it was established as an independent state A major theme of the book is the increasing violence extent and expressions of sectarian conflict which have emerged as new forms of sectarian terrorism The volume provides an in depth empirical case study which addresses some major theoretical questions raised by Critical Terrorism Studies researchers in respect of the links between religion and sectarian terrorism in Pakistan and more widely This book will be of much interest to students of critical terrorism studies Asian politics and history religious studies and International Relations in general Pakistan Anatol Lieven, 2011-04-12 An expert s compelling portrait of the complex volatile country now situated at the fulcrum of international concerns

The Aftermath of Partition in South Asia Gyanesh Kudaisya, Tan Tai Yong, 2004-03-01 This book draws upon new theoretical insights and fresh bodies of data to historically reappraise partition in the light of its long aftermath It uses a comparative approach by viewing South Asia in its totality rather than looking at it in narrow national terms As the first book to focus on the aftermath of partition it fills a distinctive niche in the study of contemporary South Asia Electoral Allegiance in Sri Lanka Dilesh Jayanantha, 1992-06-04 A detailed comparative analysis of electorates in Sri Lanka It addresses issues that are relevant not only to South Asia but to the developing world in general and will therefore be of interest to specialists and students of South Asia comparative politics sociology and anthropology Muslims against the Muslim League Ali Usman Qasmi, Megan Eaton Robb, 2017-09-15 The popularity of the Muslim League and its idea of Pakistan has been measured in terms of its success in achieving the goal of a sovereign state in the Muslim majority regions of North West and North East India. It led to an oversight of Muslim leaders and organizations which were opposed to this demand predicated on their opposition to the League on its understanding of the history and ideological content of the Muslim nation. This volume takes stock of multiple narratives about Muslim identity formation in the context of debates about partition, historicizes those narratives and reads them in the light of the larger political milieu of the period. Focusing on the critiques of the Muslim League, its concept of the Muslim nation and the political settlement demanded on its behalf, it studies how the movement for Pakistan inspired a contentious influential conversation on the definition of the Muslim nation.

Self and Sovereignty Ayesha Jalal, 2002-01-04. Self and Sovereignty surveys the role of individual Muslim men and women within India and Pakistan from 1850 through to decolonisation and the partition period. Commencing in colonial times, this book explores and interprets the historical processes through which the perception of the Muslim individual and the community of Islam has been reconfigured over time. Self and Sovereignty examines the relationship between Islam and nationalism and the individual, regional, class and cultural differences that have shaped the discourse and politics of Muslim identity. As well as a fascinating discussion of political and religious movements, culture and art, this book includes analysis of press, poetry and politics in late nineteenth century India, the politics of language and identity, Hindi, Urdu and Punjabi, Muslim identity, cultural difference and nationalism, the Punjab and the politics of Union and Disunion, the creation of Pakistan. Covering a period of immense upheaval and sometimes devastating violence, this work is an important and enlightening insight into the history of Muslims in South Asia.

Al-Hind: The Making of the Indo-Islamic World André Wink, 2025-02-27. This book provides a new answer to an old and often asked question: why did the bulk of conversion to Islam take place not in the imperial heartlands of the Indo-Islamic world but among the indigenous populations of the Indus borderlands and the coastal maritime and insular peripheries of the Indian Ocean and the Malay-Indonesian archipelago? The answer is found in the conjunction of geographical, political and economic factors affecting the Indo-Islamic states of the 13th to 17th centuries, both in their medieval origins and their interaction with the Portuguese Estado da Índia and the East India Companies.

Migration, Memories, and the "Unfinished" Partition Amit Ranjan, 2024-03-29. This book looks at migration through the lens of the Partition of India in 1947. The Partition uprooted millions of people from their homelands. This volume examines the initial difficulties faced by the refugees in settling down in their adopted land. It analyses the state's efforts in facilitating the movement of refugees, the processes it initiated to resettle them after Partition, and the extent to which it was successful. This book also investigates the links between socio-political developments in contemporary India, Pakistan and Bangladesh as a result of the Partition. Drawing on archival sources, oral histories and literary representations, the contributing authors discuss and analyse the experiences of the migrated population. Part of the Migrations in South Asia series, this book will be an important read for scholars and researchers of
