territories to the metropole was a strategic necessity but also a dynamic which Paris struggled to control The language of reform and equality was seized upon locally to make claims on metropolitan resources and wrest away the political initiative Intertwined with coercion and violence the struggle to define what modernisation would mean for colonised societies was a key factor in the wider process of decolonisation Contributions by leading specialists extend geographically from Africa to the Pacific and to metropolitan France itself examining a range of topics including education policy colonial knowledge production rural development and slum clearance
